

I think it outrageous that you have allowed COMCAST CABLE company to buy up all the pre-existing cable lines in this area, shutting out the possibility of any realistic competition, and grant this one company a absolute MONOPOLY on the cable service in this major metropolitan area. Where even a portion of the available cable lines to be made available to competing companies one could be assured that the current OUTRAGEOUS fees charged by the current sole provider would HAVE to come back to some reasonable figure. High speed internet access, (cable), is no longer a luxury, it is for some business, like mine a necessity. In having given this ONE company the sole ownership of the entire cable system, you have, in effect granted them an uncontrolled monopoly. I thought that in our "free market system" that was a basic no, no. Someone should really be taken to task for this.

George Kelly
Berkeley, California